ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Stephen Parker, of Lower Waterford, died Thursday, October 25, after a long illness. He was nearly 91 years old.

The baptismal register of Notre Dame Catholic church, St. Johnsbury, shows 120 infant baptisms since January 1.

The Rev. M. L. Woolsey, having accepted a call to a parish in Buffalo, N.
Y., has resigned charge of St. Paul's church in Vergennes, his resignation to take effect December next.

On complaint of Game Warden Preston, Bert Popin's house at Richmond was searched and found of unlawful deer killing. In the cellar the officer found a deer pelt, but whether it was the skin of a buck or a doe remains to be proved.

November 10 has been selected as the wedding day of Miss Annie Ide, daughter of the Hon. Henry Clay Ide, former governor of the Philippines, and Congressman Bourke Cockran, of New York.
The ceremony will be in the old home of the Ide family at St. Johnsbury.

Negotiations have been on foot looking to the breaking of the deadlock in the affairs of the White River Valley railway. It is understood that Mr. Williams, the principal owner in the road, has offered to compromise the suit against the town of Rochester for the sum of $20,000 to be paid by the town in full discharge of its liability under the vote to bond the town for $25,000.
It is a part of the offer that the $20,000 be paid in permanent work on the road, under the direction of a committee to be chosen by the town.

Some time Saturday or Sunday night Adams & Smith's men's furnishing store in White River Junction was entered through a back window and two pairs of shoes were taken. It looks from the selection of articles, two of a kind, as if two persons were implicated in the burglary. The window through which entrance was made is on a line with the roof of a shed of the store and had no shutters, bars or grating to protect it.
A person could easily spring himself to the roof from the ground, break or cut out one of the large panes of glass; step into the store and help himself to what goods he wanted and return the same way he came in. The Central Vermont yard tracks run in the rear of the store and the passing of a train would overcome any noise made in breaking and entering. There was no attempt from all appearances to disturb the safe or cash drawers.

Commitments to House of Correction.

Fifty-seven prisoners were committed to the house of correction, Rutland, during the month of October. This is an increase of 20 over the preceding month.
There were 29 unfortunate sent to the county jail which is also an increase over September.

The offenses for the house of correction commitments are as follows: Intoxication, 24; breach of the peace, 8; assault, 2; refusing to support family, 3; grand larceny, 2; petit larceny, 4; burglary, 2; tramping, 3; illegal selling mortgaged property, 1; vagrancy, 2; embezzlement, 1.

TURKEY SHIPMENT LIGHT.

Vermont's Crop is Getting to Be Shorter Every Year.

St. Albans, Nov. 5.—Turkeys are very scarce in this section. In fact they seem to be growing scarce from year to year.
The price paid to farmers for the present time for first class fowls is twenty-five cents a pound. The retail price in Vermont at Thanksgiving time will probably be thirty cents a pound, and very likely in the cities the price will be considerably higher than that. A good many buyers for the city trade have to go to Canada, as turkeys seem to be more abundant there than in Vermont. The duty on live turkeys is three cents a pound; on dressed, five cents.

Several causes are given for the shortage in the crop. One is that if it is so much trouble to raise them, that they are much more delicate than young chickens. The farmer's wife has usually taken charge of this part of the work, but farmers are now more prosperous and it is not so necessary for the women to do this work to get pin money. Foxes, too, kill a good many of the fowls. Another reason given for not raising them is that the turkey being such a good many
pound; on dressed, five cents.

Roosevelt's Strenuous Life.

If the account is correct, the strenu-ousness and the bounding vitality of President Roosevelt have been expressed by no one with more aptness than by his own wife. A man in Washington was trying to secure a plaster cast of the president's face. "How long would it take to make the cast?" Mrs. Roosevelt asked. "Twenty minutes," was the reply.
"That settles it," answered Mrs. Roosevelt.
"No human power could induce my husband to remain still for twenty minutes."—Leslie's Weekly.

The Obstinate Poles.

German authorities are finding the Polish school children in the eastern provinces to be more than their match.
Those children who resist the efforts of the teachers to compel them to speak German during religious instruction are hailed as heroes, and other children are tried to emulate their example.
One little fellow who was laid over in a chair by two teachers and soundly "strapped" for disobedience cried out:
"You may whip me as much as you like, but you will not force me to pray in German!"

COL. L. G. B. CANNON DEAD.

Had Recently Passed 91st Birthday—Sketch of His Career.

Burlington, Nov. 5.—Col. Le Grand B. Cannon died Saturday afternoon, aged 91 years. Colonel Cannon suffered an acute attack of kidney trouble last August and for several days it was thought he could not live. He recovered his strength, however, in a large measure, and during the last two months he has been able to take his usual daily almost every day. Following the usual custom, he was preparing to go soon to New York and later further South for the winter. His present illness dates from a week ago Saturday, although his condition was not considered serious until Friday.

Col. LeGrand Bouton Cannon was born in Troy, November 1, 1815. Forty-seven years he had occupied the locality known as "Overlake," which he built in 1837-9.

Colonel Cannon had had a career distinguished by its activity, loyalty, enterprise and large influence. He was a member of the Union defense committee of the city of New York, which saw to it that the city was not taken by the government at the outbreak of the great Rebellion; colonel and aide on the staff of General Wool in command of the department of Virginia, with headquarters at Fortress Monroe, in the critical years 1861-3 (during which in 1862 he was the leading member of the commission appointed to report upon the condition of the "contrabands") and drew the report which when adopted, as it was, by the war department, constituted virtually a decree of emancipation nine months before President Lincoln's proclamation) and in other ways rendered valuable service to the country. He was one of the organizers and most active members of the great Union League club; president of the Champlain Transportation company, which he re-organized and made a more profitable property; vice president of the Delaware & Hudson Canal company, and at its head during a critical period of its history; a trustee of the university of Vermont, Burlington, for several years; a vestryman in St. Paul's Episcopal church; a director in many financial and industrial enterprises; and a skillful and successful farmer and breeder of blooded cattle and horses.
